

The Joseph M. Katz Graduate School of Business and College of Business Administration at the University of Pittsburgh seeks applications for a full-time, non-tenure track professor (rank open) in Organizational Behavior starting Fall 2011. Teaching responsibilities will include undergraduate and/or MBA courses related to Organizational Behavior, Teamwork, and Leadership. Preference will be given to candidates who are prepared to teach MBA students and are interested in teaching Organizational Behavior, teamwork, and leadership skills using simulations and applied experiences. Evidence of teaching experience is required for all applicants. While the primary activity for this individual will center on the development and execution of high quality teaching, some research activity is expected in order to maintain academic qualification standards. For consideration, any candidate should have their dissertations completed prior to starting the position in the fall of 2011.

To apply, send a letter of interest, vitae/resume, sample research paper(s), evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of reference to OB Search Committee, c/o Audrey J. Murrell, 312 Mervis Hall, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, PA 15260 or amurrell@katz.pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity Employer. Women and members of minority groups under-represented in academia are especially encouraged to apply. Application deadline: December 1, 2010.
